Dear Reynaldo Pacheco,

I, Carlos Sanz, herewith own and control all rights to and in the script of the television series currently entitled “Indigo” (hereinafter referred to as the “scripted series”).

I herewith authorize you to represent the television series to respective buyers in the United States and other foreign territories (hereinafter referred to as the “production companies”), in order to secure a production deal(s) with such buyers for the television series. In the event a production company purchases the rights to produce the television series, I herewith agree to pay you a finder’s fee of 15% of the total purchase price agreed in the purchase agreement. Such fee would be paid to you within 7 business days of payment received from such purchase agreement and deposited into your designated account. In addition, in the event that I, Carlos Sanz, am involved in the principle photography of the television series, I herewith agree to grant you an executive producer credit for all services rendered.

Kindly be advised, that I would have to pre-approve any terms and conditions of any potential purchases prior to its execution. My approval shall not be unreasonably withheld.

Thank you very much for your kind assistance in helping me produce my television series via your contacts.

Sincerely,

Carlos Sanz
